<sup>1</sup> The comment noted favorably that fuel-related rules are “imperative” and that they “need to be reviewed every two years to make sure entities, etc.[.] are in full compliance.” Although the Rule’s review is not necessarily subject to such frequency, the Commission reviews this Rule and all current FTC rules (and guides) periodically. These reviews seek information about the costs and benefits of the Commission’s rules and guides as well as their regulatory and economic impact. The information obtained assists the Commission in identifying rules (and guides) that warrant modification. Moreover, the Commission may propose amendments to its rules outside of its periodic review of them. Thus, for example, recently the Commission published for public comment proposed ethanol-related amendments to the Fuel Ratings Rule. See 79 FR 18850 (April 4, 2014).
